CHAMP CLARK IS ELECTED SPEAKER

CONGRESS ASSEMBLES IN EXTRAORDINARY SESSION

ORGANIZATION MAY BE COMPLETED TODAY

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Champ Clark was elected speaker of the House of Representatives over Mann, the Republican candidate, by a vote of 217 to 105.

It is understood that the president's message will refer to the traditional friendship for the Germans, and that the American government differentiates between the German government and the German people. A copy will be furnished the foreign diplomats here.

It appeared so certain that the president will ask a declaration of war that Chairman Flood, of the House Foreign Affairs committee, has prepared a resolution declaring a state of war, and authorizing the president to make war on Germany.

The Republicans delayed the organization by demanding roll calls for each office.

The president hopes to address Congress late this afternoon.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The president will deliver his address at 8:00 o'clock tonight.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Congress met in extraordinary session at noon today to decide the question of war with Germany.

President Wilson's message went to the public printer early this morning and the president will be ready as soon as the struggle between Democrats and Republicans over the organization of the house is concluded to take up the most serious national crisis which has confronted the United States since the Civil war. The senate is already organized.

The sentiment at the capitol apparently predominates for a declaration of war or a declaration that a state of war exists between the United States and Germany. Pacifists are expected to be heard from in congress and both pacifists and anti-pacifists came in force to try and influence congressmen, while letters and telegrams for and against war continued to pour in.

From all indications the Democrats will control the house.

The president went to play golf until noon.

As congress assembled the president had practically decided to make his address today soon after the organization of the house even should it be deferred until late afternoon or early evening.

Democratic house leaders got word to hurry the organization as much as possible.

Chairman Simmons of the Senate Finance committee conferred with Secretary McAdoo as to the amount of money the government will need immediately. It was agreed not to

EXAMINER STILL IN CHARGE OF FIRST NATIONAL BANK

W. B. Roper, national bank examiner, has not been appointed receiver of the defunct First National bank and it is learned positively that he is not permitted to give information to the public regarding the condition of defunct institutions of the character of the First National, which is now in charge of the United States government.

In an interview with a News reporter today, Mr. Roper declared that he was here simply as national bank examiner in charge under the direction of the Comptroller of the Currency, which is the usual proceeding when national banks close. The Comptroller usually instructs the national bank examiner nearest to defunct institutions to go and take charge and that is what Mr. Roper is doing here. The National Bank examiners' duties are to examine the condition of national banks and report to the comptroller.

Asked if he could give an estimate as to the approximate amount depositors would receive and when they could get it, Mr. Roper declared that the only way you can tell about that is according to the way the bank liquidates. He added it was just as impossible for him to make an estimate of how and when that is going to be done as to say when the European war is to close—it just has to be given time to be worked out.

Mr. Roper stated that when his report of the condition of the First National is completed that it is not subject to publication—that it is a report to the Comptroller of the Currency and to no one else. Mr. Roper's sole interest is to protect the interests take action until congress defines the attitude of the United States. Simmons said he thought congress should grant a large credit even though it would not all be used immediately.

SENATOR LODGE ASSAULTED; KNOCKS HIS ASSAILANT DOWN

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Alexander Bannwart, of Dorchester, Mass., was knocked down by Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts in the capital corridor today when Bannwart called Lodge a "coward," after the senator had said he would vote for war if the president asked for it.

Senator Lodge termed Bannwart a "liar" when he was called a "coward." Bannwart struck the first blow. Senator Lodge, who is more than 60 years old, knocked Bannwart down. The police took Bannwart and several of his friends in charge.

PENFIELD COMING HOME FROM AUSTRIA TO SEE PRESIDENT

VIENNA, March 31.—News that American Ambassador Penfield will start on his return to Washington Wednesday or Thursday made a great stir but the first impression was offset by his statement that he is going because President Wilson wished to consult him regarding the general European situation. He said he would return as quickly as possible.

Mrs. M. Innerman was a luncheon guest at the Despland on Tuesday.

TAFT ASSERTS U. S. MUST ENTER WAR WHOLE HEARTEDLY

NEW YORK, April 2.—William H. Taft, returning from what he said was his longest and most strenuous journey since he was president, asserted that the people of the south and southwest are ready for war and that the United States must enter the conflict "wholeheartedly."

H. C. Renner, of Renner & Williams, was a Jacksonville visitor from Saturday until Sunday, going up by train and returning with a new car.

FITTING SOLEMNITY MARKS BEAUTIFUL MEMORIAL PROGRAM

Beautiful and impressive ceremonies took place last Saturday afternoon at the grave of the late Commodore C. G. Burgoyne in Pinewood cemetery, Daytona Beach, the services being held in memory of the first anniversary of his demise, March 31, 1916.

The magnificent monument with its tall marble cross and wall which are still unfinished after many months' work, were surrounded by a large throng of fully 1,500 people, who had come from all parts of this vicinity that they might bare their heads in honor of Daytona's departed benefactor. The streets around the cemetery were almost blocked by the hundreds of automobiles present. Several hundred school children were also present to take part in the ceremonies. Many of those from Daytona were brought over to the cemetery in several large busses and five autos from Renner & Williams' garage, all of which were furnished by Mrs. Mary T. Burgoyne the generous widow of the late Commodore.

The speakers and singers were for the most part, gathered within the grave enclosure where an organ had been placed and where the orchestra was seated. The program opened shortly after 4:00 with a requiem by the Casino Burgoyne orchestra and was immediately followed by Rev. John Treadwell's invitational prayer. The beautiful old hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light," was then sung by the scores of choir members and others present, accompanied by the orchestra.

Short addresses were given by Mayor John S. Barbe, of Daytona Beach; W. O. Upson, of Seabreeze, and C. M. Bingham, of Daytona. The hundreds of school children who were present in a body followed these addresses by the hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers." County Commissioner Chas. F. Burgman spoke at some length, giving an appreciation of the late Mr. Burgoyne's gifts to this vicinity. All then joined in singing "Near, My God, to Thee." A eulogy on Commodore Burgoyne was delivered by Rev. Father O'Boyle, being followed by short services of the Order of Elks, the Masonic Order and the Grand Army of the Republic.

Rev. Wm. J. Drew then delivered with fitting and earnest feeling, Tenyson's poem, "In Memoriam." The

MRS. BURGUYNE TO EXTEND CONCERTS FOR ANOTHER WEEK

Due to the generosity of Mrs. Burgoyne music lovers of Daytona will have an opportunity to hear the Tucker orchestra play in the Casino Burgoyne another week. Although according to the arrangements made with the orchestra the concert given Saturday night was the last in the series, which commenced December 14th, Mrs. Burgoyne has made it possible with her unfailing liberality, for the orchestra to be retained until next Sunday night, when the farewell concert will be given.

The concert, originally made possible by the late Commodore Burgoyne, have been since their commencement, among the popular features of winter life of Daytona. Heading the subscription list of the orchestra fund with $1,000 at the beginning of the season, Mrs. Burgoyne followed her subscription with another $500, when it was found that the necessary amount was lacking. With her last subscription, Mrs. Burgoyne, who has already stamped herself one of the most public spirited citizens of Daytona, will add to the already splendid place she holds in the annals of the city.

The concert given Saturday night, then understood to be the last of the season, was attended by a splendid gathering of music lovers that filled the Casino Burgoyne to capacity. The audience was unusually enthusiastic and at the completion of practically every number, the orchestra responded to encores. When "Auld Lang Syne" was played the applause grew into an ovation, and with the concluding number, "The Star Spangled Banner," the immense building rang with thunderous applause.

By making it possible for the thousands who come here every year to hear an orchestra conceded by musical critics to be one of the finest in the south, Mrs. Burgoyne, and the citizens who have subscribed to the fund, have proved that they have the best interests of the city constantly before them. Although the citizens have subscribed generously to the fund, it is regretted that in some instances payments of the amount subscribed have yet to be made.

The Tucker orchestras, under the direction of Harry A. Tucker, are well known all over the state. The orchestra, which has played at the casino this season, is made up of a group of finished musicians, led by Maurice H. Kirk, violinist, and the well blended whole gives evidence of Mr. Tucker's ability as a director. The personnel of the orchestra is as follows: Maurice H. Kirk, Wilbross Dalpe, Miss Hattie L. Taylor, violins; Bowen R. Church, cornet, Daniel W. V. Taylor, trombone; Miss Hattie L. Taylor, clarinet; Gellio De Canio, flute; Witt B. Macaulay, cello; Victor J. A. Baradel, piano and organ. Mr. Baradel also has charge of the library.

entire assemblage joined in singing "America" and the order of ceremonies was closed with a benediction by Rev. W. E. Baker.

MRS. DUPREE GIVES
LUNCHEON AND TEA

Mrs. Mary Dupree of this city entertained 11 of her friends Saturday with a luncheon followed by an automobile beach ride to Ormond, where the party spent the afternoon at the Santa Lucia Tea Gardens. The luncheon favors were pretty storage bouquets of violets and pink roses.

Mrs. Dupree proved a most gracious hostess, thoughtfully suggesting that her guests follow their own inclinations on arrival at the gardens and either wander through the quiet log cabins with their artistic treasures, or explore the beautiful woods bordering the Hallway.

At 4:30 o'clock the guests assembled for tea in one of the log cabins, where delicious sandwiches and dairy cakes were served by Miss Westcott and Miss Jones, two charming young women who preside over these unique gardens. Pretty souvenirs, namely colored photographs of the Santa Lucia Tea Gardens were presented by Mrs. Dupree to each guest.

After an hour spent pleasantly in chatting over the tea tables the party was taken home over the river road to the full glory of the setting sun.

Those present were Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Silvernail, Mrs. Nelsaker, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Dean, Mrs. Coach, Mrs. Leneman, Mrs. Whitely, Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Lee and the hostess, Mrs. Dupree.

Product of the Bee Utilized.
Of course the great use for honey is in old English days was to make bread and mead. Many a man would had all the best qualities of wine and honey of the good ones. Mead was made both in the north and south of Europe, but in the north the grape was more popular, while in the south the product of the bee reigned supreme. Mead was the Saxon drink, but the Normans brought the grape wine from France with them, and it became a potent rival.

"THE PRISON WITHOUT WALLS" AT THE ARCADE

In presenting Wallace Reid and Myrtle Stedman in the Lasky-Paramount production "The Prison Without Walls" it is felt that this stellar duo will be unusually popular with the amusement public when it will be seen at the Crystal theatre tomorrow.

The photodramatic adaptation was made by Beulah M. Dix from Robert E. MacAlarney's unusual story.

Wallace Reid is seen as a prison reform expert, and Miss Stedman as a young philanthropist. The prison expert is sent to discover who is grafting among the prison wardens. While on a tour of inspection the young philanthropist meets the prison expert and upon his release, still in search of the chief grafter, he is given a position as her secretary, only to discover that the man to whom she is engaged is suspected of being the "man higher up."

How the supposed ex-convict and the young philanthropist fall in love—and how the grafter, jealous, tries to have him done away with and how the guilty are finally brought to justice and the true conditions divulged, is brought about in a gripping and unusual manner.

Wallace Reid, whom the photodramatic patrons love to see in some kind of a conflict, has three exciting fights; one in the prison, another in a dilapidated tenement and the third happens when he is suspected of robbing the safe of the girl he loves.

In addition to Miss Stedman, Mr. Reid is supported by an excellent cast including William Conklin, Billy Elmer, Camille Ankewich and Lillian Leighton.

The production is unusually accurate as to detail. The scenes in the prison are most graphic.

New Source of Wealth.

Angels

GOD hath sent his angels
To the earth again,
Bringing joyful tidings
To the sons of men.

They who first at Christmas
Throughed the heavenly way,
Now beside the tomb door
Sit on Easter day.

Angels, sing his triumph
As you sang his birth.
"Christ the Lord is risen,
Peace, good will on earth."

In the dreadful desert
Where the Lord was tried,
There the faithful angels
Gathered at his side.

And when in the garden,
Grief and pain and care
Boxed him down with anguish,
They were with him there.

Yet the Christ they honor
Is the same Christ still,
Who, in light and darkness,
Did his father's will.

And the tomb, deserted,
Shineth like the sky,
Since he passed out from it
Into victory.

God has still his angels
Helping, at his word,
All his faithful children
Like their faithful lord.

Soothing them in sorrow,
Arming them in strife,
Opening wide the tomb doors
Leading into life.

Father, send thine angels
Unto us, we pray;
Leave us not to wander
All along our way.

Let them guard and guide us
Whereso'er we be,
Till our resurrection
Brings us home to thee.
—Phillips Brooks.

Pigs Are Dainty Eaters.
Pigs, instead of being ready to eat anything are among the most fastidious animals. Out of 575 plants, the goat eats 449 and refuses 126; sheep, out of 528 plants eat 387 and refuse 141; cows, out of 494 plants, eat 376 and refuse 218; horses, out of 474 plants eat 363 and refuse 212; while pigs, out of 343 plants, eat only 72

What Was Her Reply?
Gibert Stuart, the first great portrait painter of America, had the artist's foible of uneasy personal vanity.
He loved especially to dwell upon his social triumphs abroad and at home.
When painting the portrait of Isaac Hill, a Boston philanthropist, he entertained his sister with anecdotes of his friends among the aristocracy. Unfortunately, in the midst of his braggadocio, Mrs. Stuart, who did not know that there was a sister, came in from the kitchen, her apron on and her head tied up with a handkerchief, and cried out: "Do you mean to have that leg of mutton boiled or re-fried?"
"Ask your mistress," was Stuart's felicitous reply.

STARS AND STRIPES BEING DISPLAYED

In response to the mayor's proclamation for a display of the American flag in connection with the special meeting of the United States congress, convening today, the Stars and Stripes are being generally displayed at business places and residences throughout the city and upon automobiles and other vehicles.

Pile Up Nickels and Dimes.
A good plan to break oneself from the habit of spending nickels and dimes needlessly is to put the sum aside one is tempted to spend and watch it mount up. In this way one has a fund to draw upon when things really needed are to be got at a barnity, and the money will never be missed. Also, there will probably be a sum worth while, so that one can pay in a stock of the needed article instead of purchasing one or two with the small available sum. There is an economy in buying a stock. For instance, two pairs of stockings will out last nearly one-third the time six pairs will wear, and the same with lingerie, household linens and footwear.
The service is greatly prolonged by keeping up a number of these. If the young housekeeper will try this plan of saving the pennies I am sure she will never break the habit. It will be such a pleasure to know there is a little nest egg that can be spent without being missed. If there is nothing specially to be bought the sum could furnish the cost of a little outing or the table for a luncheon party, providing little luxuries which otherwise might have seemed extravagant.—

Think It Over.
In love or war or politics, or whatever else you will, the wiser man is not the one to send a boy to mill;
oh, no—he goes there himself, and like a prudent man, he makes the miller give to him the best return he can. And "papius" properly defined, so says all, declare, means being at the proper "when" just at the proper "where." So, of the many various gifts the gods to man allot, the choicest ones are sure to fall to "Johnny-on-the-spot."

MEXICAN MILITARY FACTION URGE WAR ON UNITED STATES

LAREDO, Texas, April 2.—Travelers from Mexico City say the so-called civil group is urging Carranza to maintain strict neutrality with the United States, while the military faction is strongly pro-German and urging war
on the United States.

OPERATION FAILED TO SAVE DAVIDSON POPE

Davidson Pope, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Pope, died shortly before noon today, emphysema being the immediate cause of death. The little fellow underwent a serious operation about ten days ago for relief from the effects of a bad cold which had left one of his lungs filled. For awhile it was thought that the operation had accomplished the desired purpose, but a change for the worse set in a few days ago and hope of his recovery was abandoned yesterday. The Bingham & Moley company have charge of the funeral arrangements which at this writing, had not been completed. It is probable, however, that the funeral will be held tomorrow morning. The bereaved parents and other members of the family will have the deep sympathy of friends in their grievous loss.

Mrs. Dana Sherrill, who had been a guest at the Troy during the season,
according to her custom, left Saturday
for her northern home in Morris, Ill., accompanied by her companion, Mrs.
Ella Wilcox, and by a brother-in-law, I.
V. Cryder, who came to Daytona the forepart of last week to go north with Mrs. Sherrill, who had been quite ill.
Her many friends will be glad to know that she was somewhat improved at the time of her departure and hope that she will soon recover her usual health.

$8,000 BOND ISSUE CARRIED AT BEACH MUNICIPAL ELECTION

The Daytona Beach town election, held last Saturday, resulted in the passage of the $8,000 bond issue by a vote of 24 to 5. $5,000 of this sum will be used for the extension of the municipal water works.

The vote for the town officers who had opposition in the election was as follows:

For Mayor: John S. Barbe, 52; E. E. Johnson, 24.

For Councilmen: (two elected) E. A. Branch, 64; A. N. Otis, 62; Elmer Oliver, 31.

For Town Clerk: R. L. Selden, 55; H. F. Thompson, 33.

For Tax Assessor: R. L. Selden, 51; H. F. Thompson, 34.

For Marshal: J. E. Creech, 49; H. A. Bennett, 35.

The result of the election is evidently very satisfactory to a good majority of the citizens and voters of Daytona Beach.

The first Easter

ROSIEY dawned the day in the far east. On the shore the cool waves broke gently, flustering foamy drops on the yellow sand. Away from the water among the rocky stretches of green, lilies bloomed slender and tall, white with cups curving to catch the errant little breeze which carried their sweetness beyond the hills. In the stony crevices wild flowers glinted out from dew wet leaves. Half hidden by pale lily blooms, a dark stone guarded the entrance to a cave among the rocks.

Early in the dawning Sabbath glow, two women, gentle voiced and sorrowing, came slowly down the flowered path, bearing in their arms perfumed napkins and precious spices in carved boxes. They were clad in flowing gray garments, and their heads were bent in meek weeping.

"FLOWER OF PURITY AND SPIRITUAL BEAUTY."

As they drew near to the lily sentinelled tomb, the one who walked ahead raised her eyes, dark with pain, to the open doorway, and quick wonder lighted their depths, and she turned, whispering: "Ah! Mary Magdalene, the stone already is rolled away. He hath done this thing!"

With eager steps they left the growing day and entered the darkened sepulcher. But as they went they saw two men with strong, glorified faces and glad, bright eyes, and their robes were bright as if the sunlight were shining through. The two Marys paused, startled, awed by the great light.

Then the mother of Christ knelt low and wept, but a voice thrillingly tender called to her saying, "Woman, why weepest thou?"

And she lifted her eyes at the words and answered softly, "Because they have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him."

But the voice came again, glad and full of rejoicing: "Fear not ye, for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here, for he is risen!"

Wondering, the mother gazed, her starry eyes searching the brightened sepulcher. Then she rose and walked with Mary Magdalene from the place.

Descending the path in the golden sunlight, her gray robes brushed against the uplifted flowers, dew flecked, wondrous sweet. Snapping, she bent her head to the shining lilies. "Live," she murmured, "as expression of the divine beauty of the Son of Man, as examples of his wondrous mercy and boundless love and as the symbol of his resurrection. Henceforth you shall be the flower of purity and spiritual beauty of the holy Easter day, of the great new life which floods the earth through the power of the Son of God."—Patricia Gray in Philadelphia North American.

The Easter Lily

By T. RUSSELL SHELTON in Richmond Times-Dispatch

EMBLEM of chastity, sweet sign of flowers,
A treasury of dewdrops thou dost wear,
And thy fair head droops gently, as in prayer,
As if thou wert dreamed of Easter hours.

Faith looks at thee, then turns and walks with one
Through the dark garden of Gethsemane,
Hears the deep groans, sees the accursed tree,
And kneels before the sepulcher alone.

Perhaps when Mary trod, at break of day,
The path that led her to the empty tomb
Lilies, all white and pure, sprang into bloom,
Around the stone which had been rolled away.

Till all about the sepulcher became
A garden where celestial flowers grew,
Sweeter than all the flowers that bloom, know
And fairer than the immortelles of fame.

No children weaned the sacred soil, nor Mankind was dumb, but voices found a way,
And living and brooding with angels did they
While the fair lily dropped her head in prayer.

Today the lily in whose regard thou
Thyself dost dwell, thyself dost set as free, Thyself dost crown, where the lily was
O dear, where is the spring—where is the sign?

Today the lily blooms as sweet and fair,
With drooping head and heavy, dewy hair,
Today the lily blooms, our faith is free,
And in the heart of the lily we are free.

Nor shall we find her death, nor shall we find
The lily, as we found in the past,
The lily that bloomed in anguish on the tree,
Seems evidence to us, "I am, I am."

And sweet it is to find that season when Shall the lily bloom in the heart of the tree,
For the lily is the heart of the tree,
And each and every element is free.

Bloom ye, sweet flowers, symbols of that day,
And of the resurrection, ye shall be
May faith bloom in no soul as pure as this,
Till each small seed and tear be wiped away.

At the Sepulcher.

Was it not most meet that a woman should first see the risen Saviour? She was first in the resurrection; let her be first in the justification. In your garden she was first to work our world; let her be first to see the risen Saviour. She takes first the apple of that bitter tree which brings us all our sorrow; let her be the first to see the Mighty Gardener, who has planted a tree which brings forth fruit unto everlasting life.—Spurgeon.

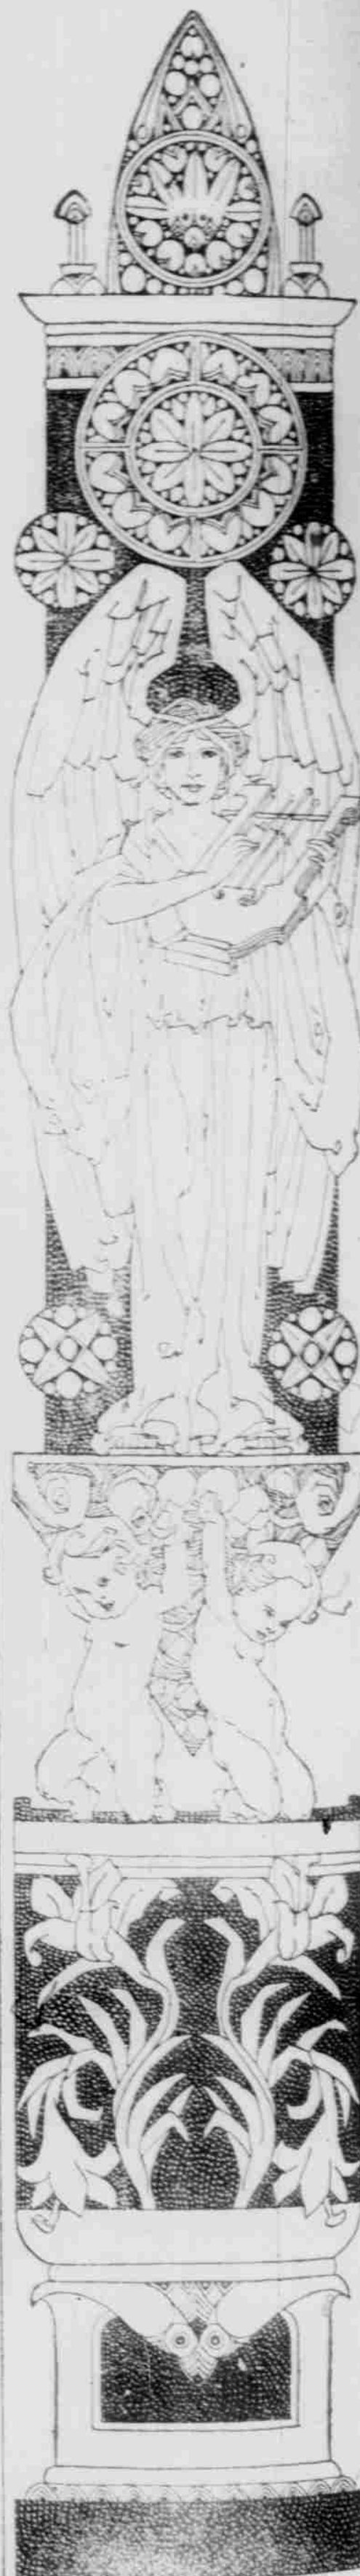

Candy For Easter.

Candy for the Easter tide is sent in small wafer hamper, tied with purple ribbon, through which is run a single lily. Where more ornate effects are liked there are satin eggs in all colors, many of them hand painted, some having a monogram in raised gilt.

Easter Egg Game.

When your friends come to play with you during the Easter holidays select a leader. The leader stands in the center of a circle. Each player holds out his hands, palms upward, and upon each of them the leader places an Easter egg. The leader then goes around the circle, catching up the eggs in turn, and trying to strike them upon the hands that hold them.

Each one tries to withdraw his hands before they are struck. The same leader continues until he is able to strike some one's hands, whereupon the victim must take his place. If one's hands are withdrawn and the egg falls to the ground because of a feint on the part of the leader it is as if his hands received the blow. At the end of the game the eggs can be eaten.

Easter Fires

Easter time, established in honor of the sun, from a tradition of Roman observance in some parts of Great Britain,
where bonfires are quite common at this time of year.

It is in early spring. Effigies of Jesus were usually burnt in the fields in Easter time until the government prohibited it.

Stories in "The Golden Bough" state that about 1000
years ago the custom of disseminating the Easter Bunny was as follows: In the afternoon of Easter Sunday boys collected wood, which they piled in a bonfire, while in the middle of the day they set it to a tall wooden cross all enclosed in straw. After the evening service they lighted bonfires at the convenient con-fire in the church and ran with them at full speed to the cross.
The fire to burn out fire in the house. An oxen or goat might come near the bonfire,
but both would escape its flames.
As the flames rose the boys and girls danced, "We are bringing the Jesus".

Easter Gifts

The very present Easter custom of sending Easter cards to our friends or of making these simple and inexpensive gifts to a good use, provided we do not worry it is an ancient one. The originator is a long name
when every one is sending out their postcards rather than writing to tell us that. Some extensive large gifts would prove a blessing to the recipient.

Many have already been sent and with the day is evidence of the convenience. Easter cards of this class or similar ones are always popular.

Flowers and growing plants
are especially appropriate to the day. Easter time being always in season. A single bouquet of roses or of lilacs
of the valley is a pretty gift to a girl. The same idea holds it must be useful to have in mind to the house of the girl in time to see her to come to church on Easter morning. Bouquets or small evergreen plants will make to a man who is a relative or friend, provided the latter has taste in flowers.

Joy Cometh In the Morning

An Easter Poem
By ADA MELVILLE SHAW

Clouds are trails in the garden—

Free night of the pen.

The day was clouded with (singing)

The garden was free.

I gave the roses back to earth's breath.

And left them thus unshyly sleeping.

This day should appear.

The red rose burst down on my
garden.

My little world they push me
rejoicing.

My garden is white!

The broadest carpet without breaking.

My hair for hair flowers was clothing.

I tread in my path.

They move slowly steps 'till no
garden.

I tread in with wings.

There, through the soft soil of
spring.

And light for red eyes.

There, till the twilight comes.

It shall have, what of thy heart-
ing. The twilight comes!

What springtime was there in thy
garden.

What twilight was there in thy
garden.

White roses burst down on my
garden.

They move slowly steps 'till no
garden.

I tread in with wings.

There, through the soft soil of
spring.

And light for red eyes.

There, till the twilight comes.

It shall have, what of thy heart-
ing. The twilight comes!

What springtime was there in thy

What twilight was there in thy

Easter Gifts

The very pleasant Easter custom of sending Easter cards to our friends or of making them simple and inexpensive gifts is a good one, provided we do not carry it to an extreme. The springtime is a busy season
when every one is weeding out one's possessions rather than seeking to add to them; hence numerous large gifts would prove a burden to the recipient.
Eggs have always been associ-

Flowers and growing plants
are especially appropriate to the day, Easter lilies being al-

bouquet of violets or of lilies
of the valley is a pretty gift to

it must be careful to have it sent to the house of the girl in time for her to wear to church

knows his tastes. — Florence

Joy Cometh
In the Morning*An Easter Poem

By ADA MELVILLE SHAW

I buried my bulbs in the garden—
'Twas night of the year.
The sky was o'ershadowed with weeping;
The garden was drear.
I gave the brown bulbs to earth's keeping
And left them there somberly sleeping
Till day should appear.

The cold rain beat down on my
garden.
Ah, pitiless rain!
My bulbs—would they perish ere
waking,
My planting in vain?

The tempest swept on without break-
ing;
My faith for fair flowers was shak-
ing.

I wept in my pain.
Gray dawn slowly crept o'er my
garden;

I sought it with sighs.
Lo, there through the soft mold appearing,

Glad sight for sad eyes,
Green life to the daylight uprear-
ing!

O foolish heart, what of thy fearing,
Thy faithless surmise?

When springtime was warm in thy gardens,
What splendor was there!

White chalices heavenward turning,
O royal cups fair!
Tall lilies, in golden hearts burning,
Beneath the glad sunbeams' fond yearning,
Their sweet incense rare.

Weep not o'er the tomb in thy
garden,
O soul sore bereft!
Though sorrow thy spirit is shaking,
Strong comfort is left.
The seals of the dread tomb are breaking;
Beneath their grim guard life is
waking;
The darkness is cleft.

Eternity lighteth thy garden—
Look up, tear dimmed eyes!
Forget the lone night of thy weep-
ing

In morn's sweet surprise.
Thy dear ones thou hast from their sleeping;
Death held them delayed in his
keeping.

Lo, none but Death dies!
—Christian Endeavor World.

The Symbolism of Flowers.
What are flowers good for? For religious symbolism. The Bible is an arborescent, a divine conservatory. To illustrate the brevity of the brightest human life you will quote from Job.
"A man cometh forth as a flower and is cut down." Flowers have no grander use than when on Easter morning we celebrate the reclamation of Christ
from the catacombs. And so I twist
from the catacombs. And so I twist
all the festal flowers of all the churches of America with all the festal flowers of chapels and cathedrals of flowers of Christendom into one great chain,
all Christendom into one great chain,
and with that chain I bind the Easter mornings of our lives with the closing mornings of the world's history of the resurrection! —Rev. T. De Witt Talmage.

The Day of Choice

Fair the slopes of Olivet
Under sunset skies.
Like a jewel richly set,
David's city lies.
Down the road from Bethany
Pours a joyous throng.
On a royal ass rides he Whom they hail with song.
Palms they wave beside his way,
Cloaks before him fling—
"Blessed he who comes today—
Master, Saviour, King!"
Through the eager pilgrim press.
Toward the gate and through,
Rides the one whose name they bless.
What comes he to do?
Comes a King to claim his throne,
In a kingdom fair?
Lo, he seeks a place alone
For an hour of prayer!
Shall he take a rank today
Such as they acclaim?
Can he crush the hopes that they Build upon his name?
Who can know the prayer he prays
In the place apart?
Who can know what passion sways
All the while his heart?
From the temple, lo, comes he,
And his face is set Back again toward Bethany,
Over Olivet.
In the pilgrim host, dismay
And a sense of loss,
And the one who rides away
Sees afar a cross!
Yet the choice that they decried—
How the ages ring:
"Blessed who was crucified—Saviour, Master, King!"
—John Clair Minot.

Easter Plants

CARE of Easter plants is a problem that seems to bother many people. Even those who never raise plants are certain to receive gifts in this shape at Eastertide,
and naturally they desire them to live
as long as possible.

Because of a lack of knowledge of plant lore many of the most beautiful and most expensive plants are consigned to the ash barrel or convenient dump a few days after Easter. While some of the cheaper ones bloom only once many of them are worth caring for.

The rambler and other pot roses
should be planted out of doors as soon as possible after flowering. Never lay them on their side or set them in an old corner to dry. Plant the rambles where they can clamber over arbors, trellises and fences, and the bush roses in other suitable locations, as they are perfectly hardy. Plant them where they can remain permanently. They may turn a little yellow at first, but they will soon become accustomed to the change and start to grow.

To preserve azaleas they should be plunged in the ground, pot and all. If the weather is very dry they will require watering throughout the summer and fall. On the approach of frost lift them, clean off the pots and place them in a window in a cool room.

Easter lilies can be kept in the pot in any convenient place until the middle of May, when they may be planted in the garden. The tops will die away, but late in the summer they will almost invariably flower again.

All the many varieties of bulbous stock, such as the hyacinth, tulip, daffodil, narcissus and crocus, when they are through blooming can be planted out in the open ground where they will come up year after year and flower luxuriantly. The flowers will never be quite so large as they were the first year, but they will be pretty and each blossom perfectly formed. Some people try to flower these bulbs in the house a second season; it is next to impossible to accomplish this, but they will flower out of doors.

Easter Thoughts

SOMETIMES within our hearts the good lies dead.
Slain by untoward circumstances or by our own free will,
And through the world we walk with bowed head
Or with our senses blinded to our choice,
Thinking that "good is evil—evil good,"
Or with determined pride to still the voice
That whispers of a "resurrection morn."

Crisp is that morn—the resurrection hour
Of all the good that has within us died,
The hour to throw aside with passionate force
The cruel bonds of wrong and blindness—pride—
And rise into a level high of power,
Of strength, of purity, while those we love rejoice
With "clouds of angel witnesses" above
And all the dear ones who before have gone.

And we ascend in the triumphant joy
And peace and rapture of a changed self
That now transfigured stands—no more the toy
Of circumstance—or pride, or sin, to blight—
Until we reach sublimest heights
And stand erect, eyes fixed upon the right,
Strong in the strength that wills all wrong to still,
Will, pointing upward to the ascended Lord.
Bless, ay, thrice blessed, this fair, sweet Easter dawn.
—Isabel Scott Stone in Washington Star.

The Easter Egg Crack

A QUAIN old Easter custom observed annually by a French family living in New York, where no festival goes by unheeded, could easily be the keynote of an Easter frolic or entertainment. The eggs to be used are always colored beforehand, when dozens of them are decorated in the old fashioned way—figured calicoes, onion peel, bluing, etc., being used in lieu of any modern process. After the eggs are thoroughly dry the children of the families participating in the ceremonies are allowed to rub them with candles to make them shine. It is claimed that the effect of the wax on the shell as a strength giving element is also a part of the tradition.

On Sunday evening a large silver bowl or tray in the center of the supper table holds the gayly decorated eggs. Then the fun starts. Half of the participants are seated around the table, and the others stand or walk about. Every one helps himself to an egg, holding it in his hand with the point just visible.

The person seated holds his egg up to be gently touched by the egg held by the person standing. If one end gets cracked then the other end is turned, and when both ends are cracked the egg is forfeited.

The object of the game is to see who can collect the most eggs, and prizes go to the most successful.

On the Easter Tea Table

FOURTH among Easter dainties are the south German Easter wafers, the mid-German "bunnen" and the delicious "rubli wafers."
The first of these consists of light, well sweetened, many raisin dotted, white wheaten bread; the next of cookie dough shaped into bunnes—snub tailed long eared, wildly rampant or hunched up funny fashion—with a bright silver coin for an eye. And the really most toothsome "hasen-ohren" or bunny ears, are made as follows: Half a pound of flour, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, four tablespoonfuls of butter, a teaspoonful of salt, two whole eggs and the yolks of two others are worked into a dough, which let stand for three hours in a cool spot.

Roll out to the thickness of a knife blade and with a pastry wheel cut into strips four inches long and one inch wide. Bake in briskly boiling lard to a delicate golden yellow, sprinkle liberally with powdered sugar and eat before they're three hours old.

These same inch wide strips, cut into longer lengths and woven round and round before turning in the boiling lard, form the so called "stork nests" of Soudan fame. Such a "nest" filled with deliciously tinted Easter eggs makes a charming center dish for the juvenile Easter supper table. — New York Evening Sun.

POSSIBILITIES of an EASTER HAT

By GERTRUDE M'KENZIE
Copyright, 1917, by American Press Association.

MISS VAN VLECK had been reading some newspaper job that suggested a sectional hat. But, thinking the plan might be feasible, she said:

"I believe there is some sense in that. This man says, if bookcases could be bought And gradually paid for, a hat surely ought."

Now, Easter was coming, and new hats were high.

Miss Van Vleck's stock of cash was quite low. But she found a sweet straw thing as blue as the sky.

Trimmed with roses as white as the snow. So springlike it looked and so dainty and sweet

And the price not beyond what her purse could well meet.

When the spring was well past and the summer had come

Miss Van Vleck saw no good reason why

She should not take a short trip away from her home

To celebrate fourth of July.

So she touched up her headgear with red roses new

And looked patriotic in red, white and blue.

But the autumn came on, and election drew near.

Miss Van Vleck thought it scarcely would pay her

To add to her hat till sure news she could hear

Of her father's election as mayor.

When she heard it her straw hat received one more section—

A fine rooster's tail, to show joy o'er election!
